Today, students can work together, which is exciting and fun. The group work is beneficial, and it helps us learn more efficiently. I enjoy the collaborative learning approach explained by Professor Todd in the previous lecture. We are assigned to work in small groups on projects, which helps us develop teamwork and communication skills. I think this approach is more engaging and effective than traditional lecturing. I look forward to more opportunities for group work.